Sharing A Favorite Memory ...

As a tutor in a pre-school, I taught 4 year olds who would be going to kindergarten. I worked on a variety of things with them. Such things as letters of the alphabet and their sounds, numbers to 20, and printing their first name.

One day, I was working with a boy on naming the colors. One color he had difficulty with was "gray." I held up the gray crayon and asked, "What color is this?" He responded, "Gray, like your hair."
